Environment, Food Scarcity Worldwide, and Human Rights

On Thursday, March 17, from 12pm to 2pm, in Meister Hall, Schwendler Auditorium, please join us for a panel discussion on the environment, food scarcity, and human rights. Environmental degradation has upset the balance of planet Earth. Deforestation, soil erosion and flooding, among other causes, have compromised the natural resources that provide food to people. As a result, there are countries where scarcity of food violates the primary human rights of existence - such as nourishment and health - and causes starvation, the proliferation of lethal diseases, and death. The panel will explore the issue of food scarcity, from the biological nursing perspectives, and offer suggestions at the governmental and grassroots levels to help alleviate this problem. OCD credit is available for this program.
