The First-Year courses will provide you with the confidence and skills to succeed at Bronx Community College.

Orientation and Career Development (OCD 01)
In this course students develop basic college survival skills in areas of academic life, such as career goals, time management, classroom behavior, assessment of instructor demands and utilization of library and other college resources. Emphasis is placed on students' understanding the academic environment, demands required to develop successful coping and achievement behaviors.

First-Year Seminar (FYS 11)
First-Year Seminar is an introduction and orientation to college learning for first semester freshmen. Each seminar section focuses on a specific theme or focus and, through learning about that theme or focus, will help you develop important skills such as taking notes, reading a textbook effectively, managing your time, and studying for exams. In the FYS, you will improve your skills, explore and clarify your academic and career goals, and learn about all the campus resources available to help you achieve them.
